Reduction Of Inspection Will Save $60,000

CLOSING OF EDMONTON NORMAL MEANS SAYING OF ANOTHER $40,000—35 BURAL INSPECTORS INSTEAD OF 34—DISTRICTS REORGANIZED

Approximately $60,000 will be saved annually to the provincial treasury through a readjustment of the school inspectors, by cutting a number of economies in the operations of the education department, it was made possible. With the closing of the Edmonton Normal school, a total of about $100,000 will be cut out of the school bill of the province, according to Hon. Percin Bland, minister of education.

The reorganization of the school inspection work means that the inspectorial staff is being reduced, and 14 of the department's officials here being engaged in that work are being retired from the service on June 1. A rearrangement of the districts in which these inspectors have been working has been drafted and practically all the inspectors in the province will be given new assignments.

Under the new plan there will be 25 rural inspectors as against 34 previously. The inspectors who are dropped from the list are as follows: Gerald Prairie, H. J. Bland, Plain, Hardisty, Lacombe, Castor, Carleton and Irving. They were being absorbed for other purposes in other inspectorates adjoining them, and corresponding expenses had been made in the personnel of the inspectorial staff.

So far as the cities are concerned, the two inspectors that Edmonton and Calgary have each had are being continued in the work, but the four men formerly covering the city districts are being assigned to rural inspectorates. The city work will be done during the winter, probably within a shorter period than before and for that purpose the best available men will be brought from the country in physically more difficult.

SAY SUGAR PRICES WILL GO HIGHER

The world's supply of sugar is being cut by some five percent of normal production, this according to the Canadian press. As a result, sugar prices may be expected to increase still further from their present level, but there is no need for panic among consumers. "There is no need for sugar to go up," if consumption can be decreased. A summary of the evidence placed before the special agricultural committee of the house of representatives, the Canadian sugar refineries.

Stopping Bootleggers Will Stop Bandits

Canada's recent decision to patrol the border with heavy armed troops to prevent entry into Canada of bandits from the American side, has been called a "change of vision" by a Montana law enforcement officer. He says that apparently the new policy meant that the Canadian government had "seen the light" and had "come to realize that the run runner, bank bandit, horse thief, and white slave are all the same person."

C. P. R. Extends Payment on Farms

An announcement of great importance to farmers throughout the C.P.R. Irrigation Block, and at other points where the Company has land holdings was made by President E. W. Beatty on Friday at Regina. Under the new scheme any farmer who desires can have his contract written, and the payments agreed upon a thirty-four year period. The assurance is also given that the annual payment will be in excess of seven percent of the cost of the land. In the last few months there have been petitions to the company from various bodies of farmers asking for consideration of the conditions of their contracts, on account of the two years of depression in prices and short crops in some sections.

Hon. Bonar Law Resigns From The Premiership

WAS FORCED TO TAKE THIS ACTION ON ACCOUNT OF ILL-HEALTH—WAS FIRST CANADIAN BORN PREMIER OF BRITAIN

Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, the British prime minister, sent his resignation to the king last Sunday night because of ill-health; he was unable to present it personally. Thus ends the Canadian's premier's career, a brief but eventful administration and it ends with important and perplexing problems, particularly Great Britain's relations with France and Russia unsettled.

The king will summon one of the Conservative leaders to form a new cabinet. It is generally expected that Sir Marquis Curzon will be the next premier.

The crisis came upon the government in the midst of the holiday when parliament was closed. Several members of the government are in London. Mr. Bonar Law's consultation with physicians in Paris has been known, but was foreseen, but he was not prepared for it and will avoid departure from London. The crisis was over the untimely dropping of a trust bill.

FRANCE REGRETS LAW'S RETIREMENT

General regret is felt in France at the retirement of prime minister Bonar Law. He is considered to have been a man of high character and his upright honest nature has been fully appreciated by the French. It is also regretted that he was not in London and Paris. The French press has been full of praise for the last few months Mr. Bonar Law occupied the premiership. He is considered to have been a "perfect gentleman." This sums up the general sentiment.

Redcliff Inflicts First Defeat On Firehall-Indians

SCORED FOUR GOALS IN PAST AND TEAM DELIGHTS CROWD BY PLAYING GREATLY IMPROVED GAME

The Redcliff senior football team put up their best display of football to date in their match with the Firehall-Indians, and incidentally put a stop to the all-conquering career of the Firehall-Indians team of Medicine Hat. The game was in the Firehall-Indians' favor from the start, as it was in the game played by the team at the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., and for the time being the Redcliff team is in the lead.

The home team were short of Robison, and the game was a close one. What was lacking in numbers was more than made up by the enthusiasm displayed when it was seen that the locals were not making a back place to their renowned opponents, and great work was locally cheered. A number of Vets and Cadets spectators were in attendance, and they were as delighted with the success of the locals as were the home supporters.

The advantage of winning the toss was the advantage of the Redcliff team, and it was more often a detriment than benefit, was secured by Mackenzie, who was the first to kick. A Noble Memorial

British Rule at Zebruggi One of the Most Brilliant Deeds of Naval History

The foundation stone of what will be a noble memorial to the famous British rule at Zebruggi in the war, was laid by the Governor of West Puntland, in the presence of a distinguished Anglo-Belgian company, including Admiral Sir Roger Kevell, Lord Hurlingham, Lord Esmont, the British Ambassador, Sir George Graham, and the Belgian Minister of Public Works.

The memorial, which will stand near the short end of the Mole, will take the form of a granite column, 70 feet high, surmounted by a statue of St. George slaying the dragon. It will be visible far out at sea and will be inscribed on the side facing the sea with the words "St. George for England," and also "United for Justice." Likewise on the monument will appear the names of the British who fell in the action and also the names of the participating warships. The Governor, when performing the ceremony, described the landing of the British in the face of the German fleet as one of the most brilliant deeds of naval history.

Seed Control Act

Will Extend Compulsory Grading to All Kinds of Grass and Clover Seed

The Seed Control Act, administered by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, is undergoing amendment at the present session of Parliament. The amending bill, after receiving the approval of the Agricultural Committee, has had its second reading in the House of Commons. The original act provides for the compulsory grading of only of timothy, alfalfa, clover and lucerne. The grades of these seeds recognized are: "Extra No. 1," "No. 1," "No. 2," "No. 3," and "Rejected." The amended act will extend compulsory grading to all kinds of grass and clover seed, such as, ryegrass, millet, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, sunflower, field peas, field beans and vetches. Provision is made for including seeds of other kinds of farm crops. The bill also provides for the optional grading for commerce of field roots and garden vegetable seeds. Farmers selling seed on their own premises will not be required to grade seed grass. Grass seed and clover seed, however, sold from the farm must have been officially tested and graded on the basis of a sample.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Fresson" on an aching corn, instantly that corn starts burning, then soon you lift it right off with fingers. Your daughter needs a tiny bottle of "Fresson" for a few cents, which will remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the callus, without excruciating pain.

Innovation Please Dealers

Fishermen in Alberta Are Grading

For the first time in the history of the western provinces, and possibly in that of the continent has been introduced the fish grading system on the market so that the dealer obviates the difficulty of choosing fish of a certain weight for his customer.

The Manitoba Fish Company, the largest operators in Alberta, were the pioneers in introducing the new system, and last winter on the Buffalo Lake for this was practiced.

From Chicago and other points in the United States word has been received that the Alberta innovation has been greatly appreciated by the fish dealers, and that it is a considerable convenience to all purchasers.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme prostration, often vomiting, and in some cases, if the worms are not removed, the animal dies. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and they will cure the evacuation. The little sufferer will be immediately relieved, and the return of the attack will not be likely.

THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE.

Out in British Columbia there is a firm engaged in the manufacture of paper. This firm is known as the Powell River Co. According to reports the firm missed an order to the effect that unless the members of the local Paper Makers' Union surrendered their union charter by May 20th, all the union members in the employ of the company would be dismissed.

So serious was the action on the part of the company considered, that the matter was brought up on the floor of the federal parliament, and was the subject of interest at a whole afternoon's session.

In closing the debate on the subject Premier King said he would see to it that the company in question would be informed "that this parliament in the name of Canada has given its adherence to the Treaty of Versailles and the labor convention attached to it, and that one of the terms of the latter is the right of association for all lawful purposes by employees as well as employers."

"To preserve this right is something to which we are covenant and bound by the treaty, I think it will be enough of the attention of the company is drawn to that particular article, and to the debate which has taken place here, and that the result is to focus public opinion and public sentiment on any course of behavior on the part of this company which may be run counter to this particular article of treaty. If that is not enough, I shall be very much surprised if the parliament of Canada cannot find some means of satisfactorily dealing further with the situation."

It is a good thing for Redcliff that Ottawa did not hear about the ratepayers' meeting held here a few months ago.

ONTARIO ELECTIONS.

Citizens from Ontario who are now in the west either on business or pleasure, say Drury cannot win out in the approaching election at that province. None of them, however, will venture an opinion as to which of the other two old parties will have the majority. There is no doubt the result of the election will be very close and the probabilities are that all three of the leading parties will have about an equal number of supporters. This will raise the problem as to who will be called upon to form a government. "The trouble in Ontario has been that Premier Drury has never been a whole-hearted Progressive leader. He has done too much flirting with the Liberal party, of which he has always been a staunch supporter. This has lowered him in the estimation of J. J. Morrison, who has always had the support and backing of the Ontario leaders of the Progressive party."

Mr. Drury's eleventh hour conversion to principles as laid down by the real leaders of the party, appears to have come too late to be of any service to him in the campaign. Coming as it does on the eve of an election too many will look upon it in much the same way as they would pull on a pair of rubbers to cross a muddy street and discard them after they got to the other side.

TALKING FROM EXPERIENCE.

In his speech on the budget Hon. Chas. Stewart art said he would like to see the Progressives in power for four or five years in order that they might have a chance to put into effect some of the principles which they so jealously advocated. If the Progressives were ever entrusted with the government they would find out that it was not possible to be so drastic as when in opposition. The first essential in tackling the job of government was to view the country as a whole throughout its length and breadth.

It might be added that Mr. Stewart is no doubt speaking from experience, as this is just exactly what is happening at Ottawa at the present time. No government has ever fallen so far short of fulfilling its pre-election platform and promises as has the government of which Mr. Stewart is a member.

Writers in U.S. magazines figure that farmers are only getting about one-third of what is ultimately paid by the consumer for these products. The reason for this they gather from statistics which show that this farm population of 35,500,000 there is also a population of dealers in food of 19,000,000, or one food dealer for every farm and three-quarters.

There is no doubt that conditions in Canada are very similar, only of course, on a smaller scale regarding numbers. For this reason the problem of marketing is one of supreme importance not only to farmers but to all classes; and because of this the Alberta government should carry to the limit the marketing investigation which it has already started.

A heading in one of the dailies says: "King is Ready to Name New Premier of Britain." This does not mean William Lyon McKenzie King. It is only King George. That reminds us. After the death of Queen Victoria some one down in Quebec asked a friend: "Who'll take her place?" The friend replied that the Prince of Wales would be a trip over. "By Gosh!" said the Frenchman, "he must have some pull with Laurier."

In reviewing the characteristics of the aspirants for the British premiership, to replace Bonar Law, one writer summing up says that any individual who thinks he has all the brains of the party can never make a successful leader.

"Education is one of the great interests of Canada. It is rightly regarded by all thoughtful and far-seeing citizens as one of the main sources of national strength and as one of the capital guarantees of national unity."

This sentiment was expressed by Sir Michael Sadler on the eve of his departure from Canada after a trip over our country from coast to coast, under the auspices of the National Council of Education. Needless to say Sir Michael did not visit Redcliff.

British Columbia is another province added to the list of those in Canada with a new party. The new party in B.C. appears to be making considerable progress and shows signs of one to be reckoned with in the next election.

Attorney General Raney has decided to stay with Drury and his party in the forthcoming election. It is rather a "wet" name to be associated with a "dry" party.

China dishes are now going out of style as a result of the way China dishes up entertainment for foreigners in her country.

We have heard a great deal about Canada's new immigration policy, but no provision appears to have been made for properly looking after that fine bunch of Hebraids who have landed in Alberta.

HUMOROUS

Wife: "Douglas, if we were both free again, would you choose me to be your little wife?"

Hubby: "Now, what do you want to start a quarrel for just as everything is so pleasant?"

Landlady: "Isn't this a good chicken?"

Boarder: "It may have been a good chicken morally, but physically it's a wreck."

"Here," said a lady to a beggar, "I shall wash your face. You refuse it." "I have to, ma'am," he replied. "I've got an iron constitution, and water would rust it."

A Welshman in legal difficulties called upon a solicitor, told him the facts of the case, and asked what chance he had of winning the suit. The lawyer was most encouraging.

"I am afraid the case is, I'm not taking action," announced the Welshman, decidedly.

"Why not?" the solicitor asked in surprise.

"Well, you see, it was my opponent's case I was putting to you."

"Well, did you discover anything in Stump's past life that we can use against him?"

"Not a thing. All he ever did before came here was to sell sun-blinds."

"Why, that's just what we want. We'll say he has been mixed up in, in some decidedly shady transactions."

Cavalry Recruit (about to take his first lesson in horsemanship): "Serjeant, pick me out a nice gentle horse."

Sergeant: "Have you ever ridden a horse before?"

Recruit: "No."

Sergeant: "Ah! Here's just the animal for you. Never been ridden before. You can start out together."

One of the congregation of a fashionable church approached the vicar with the complaint that she was greatly disturbed by the unseasonable singing of one of her neighbors.

"It's positively unbearable!" she said. "That man in the pew in front spoils the service for me. His voice is harsh and he has no idea of what he's doing."

"Can't you ask him to change his part?"

"The vicar was perplexed. After a few moments' reflection, he said: "Well, I naturally would feel a little delicacy on that score, especially as I should have to tell him why I asked it. But I'll tell you what I might do."

"I should have to tell him why I asked it. But I'll tell you what I might do."

The New Motor Highway

The building of the new motor highway through the Canadian Rockies and the linking up of the great 6,000 miles system known as the "Grand Circle Tour," adds one more thrilling chapter to the romance of modern engineering. The Banff-Windermere road is not only the first motor road across the Central Rockies but the connecting link in what is probably the most spectacular motor route in the world. For the past two years motorists in both the United States and Canada have awaited the completion of this link. Now the great circle is complete and after June 30 motorists may travel across the Rockies from Banff via the Vermilion pass to the Windermere valley, passing through Banff and Kootenay National parks and visiting the famous resorts, Banff, Lake Louise, the Valley of the Ten Peaks and Moraine Lake. Direct connections are made by the Columbia Valley road via Invermere, Cranbrook and Kamloops, B.C., with Spokane and Seattle, Wash., Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., and Portland, Ore., and the Pacific Coast down to San Francisco and Los Angeles, Cal. The return trip of the tour in miles via the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City, Helena, Montana, the United States, and the Pacific Coast and Glacier National Parks to Teton, Montana; and over the international boundary to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Waterton Lakes National Park, and back to Banff via the Lehigh and Calgary and back to Banff.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN BRITAIN GRADUALLY DECREASING

Steady if slow improvement is reflected by the unemployment figures which fell 14,000 last week, making a total drop of 250,000 since the beginning of the year. Notwithstanding the sharp rise in the price of sugar, the cost of living declined four points in the last month and now stands at 70 per cent. above the pre-war level. The improvement is mainly due to the reduction in the price of milk, butter, cheese and eggs.

REDCLIFF

FROM HARD TIMES TO CANADA

When the Canadian Pacific steamships "Marcho" and "Metagama" last docked at St. John, Canada gained the return of over six hundred able-bodied and industrious farmers, farm workers and women from the Herberles. Forced by the loss of promise and have been welcomed as the most valuable immigrants in years. Under the leadership of Rev. Alexander J. Gillies and Rev. John MacMillan, they have gone to the Red Deer district of Alberta and various parts of Ontario where they will engage in agriculture.

Most of them are from the Island of South Uist, Hebrides and Barra. Here their families were small farms of from ten to twenty acres and kept a stock of from ten to eight cattle, but they had no means of support. In the spring they gathered sea-weed for fertilizer, planted kelp, barley, rye and potatoes, and when this was done took to the sea.

These people have arrived and received welcome have already backed down to work. Their losses have contributed to Canada's gain. A large party have gone to Red Deer where they will build their own church and school, and in addition to this they will retain their own native Gaelic tongue.

As hired men in various parts of Ontario. Over four hundred were passengers on the "Marcho," the last on the "Metagama."

Press Associations Meet There in June.

Jasper Park Lodge, the hostelry which the Canadian National Railway has erected in an Alpine setting in the heart of Jasper National Park, will be open for the reception of guests this season June 1st to September 30th. Many reservations have been made at this early date, among which are the Alberta and British Columbia Press Associations, which will hold their 1923 joint convention at the Lodge, June 7th, 8th and 9th.

Last year the Canadian National Railway inaugurated a series of Lodges, three miles from Jasper Station, which proved so popular to visitors to Jasper National Park, that increased accommodation for 1923 became imperative. The enlarged, tastefully provided for 250 guests and includes a Main Lodge, containing large lounge, dining room and ball room, billiard room, barber shop, shower baths, ten bedrooms, all connected with private bath, and all modern conveniences. A wide veranda encircles the lounge and dining room, commanding a panoramic view of Lac Beauvert and its magnificent Alpine surroundings.

Eighteen four-room lodges, containing two rooms with two single beds each, sitting room and bathroom, three two-room lodges, each suite comprising bed-sitting room, bathroom and sleeping porch; two twelve-room buildings containing twelve single rooms with one single bed each; bathrooms and linen closet. All the lodges are of log construction, with verandahs, rustic and harmonious, fittingly furnished and electric lighting and steam heating, each bedroom being supplied with running hot and cold water.

Jasper, the station at which tourists detrain in climbing whistled on a platform at the base of Pyramid Mountain and close to where the Miette River flows to Junction with the Athabasca. As a convenient centre from which tourists may embark upon motor, horseback or hiking trips to various points of interest within or beyond the confines of Jasper National Park, the Lodge occupies an ideal situation. The Lodge's main artery—an excellent motor road—lies at the very door of the Lodge. Where motor, sure-footed packhorses and experienced guides are always available for the conducting of tourists to points of interest—either near at hand or distant. Outfits and guides are also procurable for those desiring to embark upon scenic hunting ventures beyond the confines of the Park. Riding in motor cars is also available for the guests who enjoy beating and canoeing, facilities for indulging in either passage on Lac Beauvert are made procurable for those desiring to embark upon canoeing or fishing trips. A golf course is under construction, and it is expected will be open for a portion of the season. Tennis courts, lawn bowls and croquet will also be available for use of the guests.

Guests will have the advantage of Canadian National Telegraphic Express facilities and daily mail service. A complete photographic outfit is attached to the staff and a curio shop with new stand is also included. An orchestra will be provided for dancing. Picnic parties can arrange for motor cars and guides. For convenience of tourists from the United States and Canada, an express office will be stationed at Jasper during the season to facilitate the clearance of tourists' baggage, etc., from United States points.

Popularity of Alfalfa Is Greatly Increasing

It is probable that Alfalfa is not being raised in this country in the quantities that it is capable of producing. A great part of the nearly 10,000,000 acres now devoted to alfalfa in North America, including U.S. and Canada is annually harvested for hay, and the conditions under which it is put up, the method used, and the time of cutting have a great deal to do with the value of the cured product as a feed for livestock. The number of cuttings that may be taken from an alfalfa field in a season varies according to the locality and the variety from eight or occasionally more, in the extreme south-west, to two, or sometimes only one, in the northern and semi-arid regions. Thirty to forty days of good growing weather are necessary to produce a hay crop.

There are conflicting opinions on the proper time to cut alfalfa for hay. Some authorities advise that when cut in early bloom it has slightly more protein than when cut later, and that certain animals, such as hogs and cattle, prefer it when cut in the earlier stages. These reasons and the fact that frequent cutting produced a larger total yield led to the old practice of cutting just before the flowers appeared. That practice has been discarded.

As a result of experience accumulated in the last few years, however, and frequent cuttings, although the product greater yields the first season, usually reduced the life of the stand and the average yield over a period of years. Later the basal shoots were used as a guide, cutting being recommended when they had reached a length of 1 or 2 inches or when the plants were one-third in bloom. The two guides seemed to be needed as the basal shoots, make very little growth in dry weather and livestock are slow to appear in wet periods.

Recent experiments indicate that cutting at a later date than has generally been advised is more desirable, everything considered. At the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station a comparison was made of cutting at four stages—in bud, one-third in bloom, full bloom, and when the seed pods were forming. The earliest cutting was highest in feeding value but the stand was practically killed out the first season. Cutting when one-third in bloom gave the best results. When in full bloom and seemed to be cutting early and when the seed pods were forming gave the best results. No damage resulted from cutting the basal shoots although it has long been taught that clipping them off will reduce the succeeding crop. The Department of Agriculture has conducted experiments which verify these results.

In regions where the rainfall is rather limited, such as the Great West, the alfalfa crop is injured by delaying cutting until the plants are nearly through blooming. The injury is more serious when a second cutting is made or a crop is harvested in the second year. This is more so in dry seasons when there will be very little rain after cutting and the plants are concerned. Cutting is harmful rather than beneficial but, of course, there must be a harvest. Over the problem of the time of cutting has been solved, the time to cut the farmer must be getting the most out of his alfalfa.

Stored in the last year or so, there is a general agreement that putting the alfalfa in the field as soon as it is cut of the leaves, the best part of the feed value is lost. When cutting is delayed, it takes more labor and, since more time is required, there is more danger from rain.

What Summer Fires Do To The Soil

There is a right and a wrong time to clear land with fire. The correct time is in the Dominion Department of the Interior, in the case of the spring-burn of land in Northern Alberta. The area chosen was covered with scattered dead and green poplars, trees to eight inches, with numerous areas of small willows and clumps of poplar and willow brush. The spring was an early one and under these circumstances the cost of clearing was reduced 80% by one fire, yet it was claimed that the soil was not damaged even under the heaviest conditions, where the fires were best.

On the other hand, during the droughty summer of 1922, widespread fire devastated the North Country, killing large numbers of trees and conifers—some on land unfit for agriculture—and worse still, destroying thousands of acres of vegetable crops, even before the new, crude subsoil on which only leguminous crops, such as vetch or peavine, could be expected to flourish. For crops that require these hard-burned soils will be unproductive until restored by a long process of upbuilding, in which, by the way, sweet clover might play a useful part. Even the ash left by the fire is liable to be eroded by wind or water, and when this occurs a particularly impoverished soil results, with the denuded surface often showing a large percentage of stones, since these are not readily dislodged.

In certain districts of the Peace River country there are raw, hard-burned, rock knolls or ridges of that character, as well as some draws, where the surface bank is thin. These commonly produce inferior crops of grain. It requires human and plenty of it to make a soil capable of producing usual five or six inches of fibrous humus and weeds. This is a heritage of stored-up plant food awaiting the human hand. Burn this soil and the soil is poor.

On the garden of the Beaveridge House, near St. John, the raw, hard-burned soils have been removed for roofing by an early pioneer. Six years' intensive treatment, with repeated heavy applications of manure, have never produced more than half a crop of vegetables on this land. The crown of the soil has been skinned.

Last year thousands upon thousands of acres were likewise stripped by fire. Alfalfa and hay were being burned in crops more than ready to be cut up for two feet to a fluffy layer of ash, with considerable loss of the soil. The immediate effect may possibly be favorable to cropping; but, looking to the future, the degradation is wasteful in the same sense as it would be to burn a forest.

Let us clear the land in the spring with controlled fire, but beware of summer fires as a plague.

Canada's Great Opportunity For Putting Cattle Industry On A Good Paying Basis

Though the hitting of the embargo might not cause an immediate rise in beef prices generally, it is a considerable opportunity to put the industry again on a paying basis. Ireland is already re-organizing to secure the British market, and if Canadians are to get in on the ground floor they must take immediate steps. The market must be entered to and carefully held by keeping up a steady supply of well finished, good beef-type steers weighing from 1000 to 1200 pounds. "Store cattle" does not signify unfished cattle. The old country buyer wants cattle already well-finished which he can run on the turnip fields for a few weeks and market as prime Scotch or English beef. His prices now not so much as the price the animal can make as from the fact that the cattle are finished in the old country, says J. H. Currie, Superintendent of the Experimental Farm, Lacombe, Alta.

The greatest difficulty in developing the trade will be for the Canadian exporter to find a sufficiently large and steady supply of good beef-type cattle. While the old country buyer would take any class of cattle, at a price, English and Scotch buyers will not buy poor cattle. This is another reason why the export bull must go. Good, pure-bred beef bulls may now be bought at low prices; consequently any such stock should be used.

It has been repeatedly proved by the Lacombe Experiment Station that there is money in feeding and finishing steers. Steer feeding has been carried on for a number of years at this station, and never at a loss. In 1910, eighteen steers turned over a profit of $123.82, and in 1911 twenty steers gave an average profit per head of $28.93, and in 1912, ninety-seven provided a return of $9.48 per head. For an expenditure of $1,142.77, a profit of $2,062.73 was made. The equipment for feeding these steers was not expensive. They were fed in corrals and in a sheltered bluff, with an old stock-tunnel to lie on at night. The feeds used were home-grown oats, straw, timothy hay, oats, barley, and one winter, froe wheat. The steers made excellent gains, and the carcasses marketed as beef brought nearly twice the prevailing market prices. An important point in the feeding was that water was constantly available, either from a tank with a heater into a trough, or placed in a corner of the corral. In finishing steers on grass, it was to feed some grain to hasten them for shipping. The advantage will be in the price and the price correspondingly higher.

Dehorned steers were found to pay best. They were more quickly made larger gains, and the carcasses were better. Dehorning is a necessity for the export trade, because of the long tail and horns. In the old days, a head of horned steers, badly bruised, was very detrimental to the export business. With the embargo, a tariff against our cattle, we must depend on the British market. We can make use of this market by providing a steady supply of well-bred, well-finished, dehorned steers.

Want All Eggs Stamped

English Housewives Trying to Put Bill Through Parliament.

Every egg sold in England will be stamped with the country of origin, if the plans of various housewife organizations to put such a bill through Parliament are successful. Much interest has been aroused in London recently by the passing of the National Poultry Council that only about ten per cent. of the eggs sold as new laid eggs come from the provinces of England. It has been shown that huge quantities of eggs are shipped into England every year from Holland, China and Egypt, are mixed with other eggs, and sold as native eggs. Because the foreign eggs are of a better quality than those from English eggs, it is said the retailers are able to sell them more readily than English eggs.

Cheese Factory for Moose Jaw
Arrangements are well advanced for the opening in Moose Jaw of the new cheese factory in the province by P. Burns and Company. All the machinery is being shipped from the east by the Inland Company and it is anticipated that operations will commence some time this month. The present plant call for an output of 50 pounds of cheese daily.

How Do You Walk?

Hearty All Pedestrians Will Swerve From Straight Line

How do you walk? Do you "proceed in a straight line or zigzag from side to side?"

If you watch a number of pedestrians you will find that nine out of ten walk in a zigzag manner. It is proper course, and then start swerving to the right again.

This, because one right leg is more fully developed and stronger than the other. A left-handed person usually swerves to the left in walking, for in his case the left side is the more powerful.

If a man is slightly deaf in his left ear, he will swerve to the left. If one ear is affected he will go in this opposite direction. This is because the deaf step slightly on the side on which they can hear best.

Shortighted people will swerve to the right when they have both eyes. Even people who are perfectly well physically and whose bodies are evenly developed zigzag in their walk. This is because their thoughts wander and their legs have not sufficient guidance.

Canada Has Settled Debt With Britain

South Africa Has Also Paid Substantial Part Of Her Debt

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Baldwin, in replying to criticisms of his budget, gave details of the manner in which the dominions are paying their debts to Great Britain. The Australian and New Zealand debts are funded and the South African debt has been paid off and the remainder funded.

The Canadian debt had practically been settled. Therefore the house would feel that the country was receiving exactly the same treatment from the dominions that Great Britain gave to those in whom she was indebted.

A Million Eggs A Week

B.C. Has Largest Co-operative Poultry Corporation in the World

The British Columbia Poultryman's Co-operative Exchange has reached a shipping figure of one million eggs a week and has become the largest co-operative poultry organization in the world, according to Geo. Platt, general manager of the organization. The exchange was established four years ago. Last year it did a $500,000 business and this year the business will exceed $1,000,000. It is stated. It has 1,500 members.

„Economic Gopher Poison

Dakota Formula Recommended As Most Efficient

The following formula, known as the Dakota formula, worked out by officials of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the North Dakota Agricultural College, is highly recommended by M. P. Tullis, Field Crops Commissioner for Saskatchewan, as the most effective and economical gopher poison. (a) Instead of what is used as the bait and while the poison takes a little time to prepare, the results are said to more than compensate for the additional pains taken.

1. Mix one ounce of strychnine alkaloid, powdered, and one ounce of baking soda (one tablespoonful), together in a dry form.

2. Prepare starch paste as follows: Dissolve one heaping teaspoonful of dry glass starch in a little cold water. When thoroughly dissolved add enough water to make three-fourths of a pint. Boil and stir constantly until a clear, thin paste is formed.

3. Now stir the mixture of strychnine and baking soda into the starch while the latter is still hot; then thoroughly until a creamy mass is formed.

4. Add one-fourth pint of any ordinary syrup, such as corn syrup, and stir thoroughly.

5. Add one-eighth of an ounce (one teaspoonful) of saccharine and one-half of an ounce of talcum powder, of glycerine, and allow air thorough.

6. Pour this mixture over twenty quarts of good clean oats, and stir until every kernel is covered with a thin coat of poisoned starch paste. This can be done in a washbasin.

A quart of oats contains 120 teaspoonfuls or enough for that number of burrows.

Prince wishes to Come to Canada

Thinks Rest on Alberta Ranch Would Restore His Health

The Prince of Wales paid a visit to Canada on April 25, to unveil a monument in Brussels commemorating Britain's gratitude to Belgium for her care of the British wounded in the great war. The Prince, who has been suffering from a throat affection so that he has been forbidden to make speeches in the newspapers, is said to be in the best of health.

To intimate friends recently, the Prince stated that what he needed and desired before all else was a three month stay on his Alberta ranch, and efforts have actually been begun for the Prince to undertake a private visit to Canada, but it is doubtful if this can be arranged, and it is stated on the highest authority that the trip to the Dominion will not be made unless the requirements of the Prince's health compel such a journey.

State Papers Unearthed

Valuable Documents Buried in 1916 by

Royal Jewels and valuable documents of state—buried when the late King Nicholas of Montenegro fled from his life—were found from the ground at Cetina, Serbia.

The royal cache, six feet under ground, contained four cases of priceless gems and several boxes of the documents of state. They were buried in the garden of a private house.

The documents are expected to disclose important international facts concerning the relations of Nicholas with the other nations of the world during the great war. They will be given to the state officials before being made public.

The discoverers believe the royal effects were hidden in 1916 just before the king departed from his country.

Making Mistakes in Names

Illegible Signatures Are Chief Cause Of Many Errors

It is easy enough to make mistakes in the names of men and women. It always has been done, and unless some newer and more severe system is devised, it always will occur. Names offered in this regard, in spite of all the care, often are exercises. Many names come in over the telephone, and J sounds like A or K, and C for S, and so on.

There are men who have themselves to blame for mistakes in their names. They do not sign them decently. Many a man who is very careful about other matters seems to go out on a regular space when it comes to signing his name to a letter or anything else.

Neither the printer, the register nor the proofreader can be saddled with all the blame for names not correctly spelled. It is annoying and vexatious to the people concerned, and yet those agencies that can do much to remedy the thing, viz., the people themselves, seem to be content to keep on broadcasting their names on letters, etc., in a way that courts and invites error.—From the London Leader.

Trees And Shrubby Will Make The Farm Home Beautiful And Attractive

Outlook Is Bright For Sheep Industry

Co-operative Firm Gives Out Optimistic Report Of Operations

Great prosperity in the sheepbreed and wool-producing industries in the present year is forecast in a review of the situation received by W. W. Thompson, manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. The report, prepared after exhaustive research, stresses the fact that no branch of industry has made such rapid and complete recovery from the vicissitudes of 1920 and 1921, as sheep raising.

"It is not more than a year," says the report, "since western sheep breeders were in the depths of despair, as to the final outcome of their business. Wool had dropped very rapidly from 70 cents a pound to less than 15 and 20 cents. Large stacks of wool piled up and wools were running on part-time sales. The demand and consequently the remunerative prices for good Canadian lambs and mutton fell off so sharply that grade and breeding ewes were sold only at a third of their former value."

The position of both wool and lambs for 1922 is sound, prices are well advanced from the depressed level of the previous year, and most grades are well advanced over prices of January 1, 1921. As far as wool is concerned, from the beginning of 1921 a general demand had been building up. The wool has absorbed the whole world production but was a goodly part of the supply during the war period.

The fine wools favored by fashion received the price benefit first, with medium and coarse grades neglected during the earlier part of the year. In the last half of the year with the enormously increased consumption, the demand began to level out. The wool clip at less than its real market value."

It also pays because well-kept flocks, with their part of the returns out of all proportion to their cost. In fact, in a consideration of this matter, the word "investment" must not be used, but rather "household expense" should always be thought of. Any farm, the house of which is framed with trees, porches shaded with vines, which possess a smooth expanse of lawn, the objectionable features hidden from view of trees, shrubs, or vines, is a fine investment.

The Canadian Horticultural Council believes that Canadian farmers are rapidly learning to appreciate comfort, beauty and efficiency in their surroundings, because it is now being realized that it pays from cash standpoint, that it will help country life to be what it should be, the most attractive of all and because it will in no small measure and in conjunction with the rural telephone, rural mail, good roads and radio, help to keep the young people at home and contented.

Farming should be, and some day will be, the most independent, attractive and satisfactory profession in all the world, and one of the most important steps towards that end, is that of having the home surroundings just as attractive as the business surroundings. It can be accomplished much more easily, as the farmer has everything, including an adequate space to work with.

On account of Thursday being a holiday, The Review is published today earlier this week.

The weather of the past few days has been more sunny. Although quite nice, a little more moisture would be more appreciated at present.

As Thursday this week will be observed as a general holiday throughout Canada, the regular Wednesday afternoon holiday will not be observed this week.

Wilfred Campeau's many friends in town were glad to see him stroll the streets again after his long illness. Wilfred made his first appearance down town, Monday afternoon, after being confined to his house for almost five months. He is looking in real considerable flesh. "Fear" still has his gentle smile.

According to reports coming to this office conditions are none too encouraging in this district. Rain is badly needed and some farmers report that they will not put in any more seed until weather conditions are more promising. In some sections there are

Forceful Laxatives Are No Longer Necessary

If you are accustomed to using forced laxatives as cathartics, you can now liberate your bowels from this habit, by using Wampole's Magnolax to a normal condition.

Wampole's Magnolax is a powerful laxative, but it is so gentle and so effective that it can be used by the most delicate and the most robust.

utes scored again. With only a few minutes left to play neither side was able to break the tie and, thus, the game ended.

The most unfortunate part of the game was the accident just a few minutes before time was called. Five athletes from Kirpatrick got a nasty cut on his upper lip by coming in contact with one of our boys. Five stitches were necessary to draw the wound together.

Why do you love your wife and children? Certainly I do—do you ask? Do you carry any life insurance? Sure—$2,000.

Why do you carry some life insurance for your wife and children? Why I do—my life is payable to them.

Who is your family doctor? Dr. Shurkill, and he is a good one.

When—Who is your family undertaker? No such thing in our house. I know a man named Casket—but he is the last man I want.

What makes you so considerate of Dr. Shurkill and Mr. Casket? Why—I pay no particular attention to them and I wish I never have to see either of them.

Then why do you insure your life for their benefit only? What do you mean—for their benefit only?

Don't you know that $2,000 will just about pay the expenses of your last sickness and your funeral?

Why—yes—but—Don't you think life is a pretty mean man that will insure his life for the benefit of the doctor and the undertaker only?

Say you talk as if I didn't know lots of time to get some more? Why I am as strong and healthy as an ox.

Have you any guarantee that you will be here—with your health—tomorrow?

Now—I can't guarantee that—but I can guarantee that I will be here in the ONLY DAY.

It's so simple to carry insurance enough to pay the Doctor and the Undertaker, but men who carry $2,000 policies nowadays are not carrying life insurance—they are only carrying funeral benefits.
